Thank you -

To our dedicated friends and supporters,

While 2021 was much more predictable than 2020, it was still far from what we knew as “normal.” Masks were off and on again, events cancelled or postponed, and we all had way too many Zoom meetings. COVID also brought inequities to the surface, forced difficult conversations, and brought to some a new awareness and understanding of racism. That has been a painful lesson.

Fortunately, there were also some positive lessons that came from COVID. The surge in park usage highlighted how critical parks are to the mental and physical health of communities. People recognized how important it was both for them personally, and for their neighbors, to have access to these green spaces. For those of us doing this work, it was incredibly validating.

It also showed us how much work remains to be done. All our parks need more care, attention, and investment. We remain committed to doing this work through a lens of accessibility, equity, and sustainability. You will see on the following pages how much we were able to accomplish this year towards these goals. Progress has been made, yet there is much more to be done.

2021 was a year of small victories – a beautifully restored Lily Pond in Shawnee Park with the additional of new chess tables and benches, gorgeous limestone stairs that replaced an eroded muddy trail with exposed piping in Cherokee Park, and brand new basketball and tennis courts in Algonquin Park. We celebrated the return of volunteer projects and community events; we connected with our donors – all in the fresh air and away from our screens.

But our biggest victory came at the end of the year. Norman and Belita Noltemeyer made an $8 million donation to Olmsted Parks Conservancy, the largest gift in our organizational history. This incredible act of generosity enabled us to purchase 25 acres of property adjacent to Cherokee Park that was slated for development. In one big move, we were able to protect the park and preserve this property that is currently filled with hiking and biking trails. The gift ensures that not only will that property be protected, but it will be enhanced. OPC pledges to raise the funds necessary to serve as stewards of this tremendous gift, public parkland in perpetuity. What an incredible legacy for the Noltemeyer family!

We were only able to create Beargrass Preserve because of the generosity of the Noltemeyer family. That is the way it works, it's that simple. We simply serve as a pass through for your giving in order to restore, enhance and forever protect the Olmsted Parks and Parkways. It is only through your generosity that we can do this vital work. Whether you give $5 a month or are a member of our Circles of Leadership, you are the reason our Olmsted Parks and Parkways are the best parks in Louisville. Thank you.

Layla George
President & CEO

OUR MISSION

Olmsted Parks Conservancy's mission is to restore, enhance and forever protect Louisville's Olmsted-designed parks and parkways, connecting nature and neighborhood while strengthening the community's well-being.

OUR VISION

To make all our parks the most vibrant and inclusive parks in our community.

STRATEGIC GOALS

Increase accessibility to make our parks inclusive and welcoming to all.

Increase equity to make all our parks the best in our community.

Increase financial, environmental, and operational sustainability for the health of our parks and Olmsted Parks Conservancy.

DIVERSITY STATEMENT

At Olmsted Parks Conservancy, we value diversity in all its forms for the same reason we value biodiversity in our parks: it makes communities more resilient, sustainable, and vibrant. Our parks are an intrinsic part of Louisville, and, as an organization striving for inclusivity, we commit to fostering diversity and respect both in nature and neighborhoods.

What's next for Beargrass Preserve at Cherokee Park?

In keeping with Olmsted Parks Conservancy's policy of community-informed park planning, much of the strategy for the land is yet to be confirmed. The timeline for creating a space that will serve our community is as follows:

- March 2022 - Salvage usable materials and donate to local organizations.
- April - September 2022 - Demolish the outdated buildings on the site, a $400,000 project, to create a blank slate to hold the community's vision for the property.
- Fall 2022 - Identify a firm to create a master plan for the property with public input from park neighbors, users, and stakeholders to learn how the space can best serve our community.
- Steward a fundraising campaign, seeking donations to support projects identified in the master plan.

Thanks to a generous $8 million gift from Norman and Belita Noltemeyer, Olmsted Parks Conservancy was able to purchase approximately 25 acres of land from the Louisville Presbyterian Theological Seminary. The property acquisition represents the first major expansion of Cherokee Park in more than 100 years.

The land had been advertised as a development opportunity, with more than 70 sites available for home construction. Not since the interstate expanded through the park had the land been under such a threat. Much of the land is assumed to be Cherokee Park property by those who enjoy its trails. Thanks to the Noltemeyers' commitment to conservation, Olmsted Parks Conservancy has been entrusted to protect the property as park land in perpetuity.

Frederick Law Olmsted's contributions to the fields of public health, conservation and urban planning have enriched communities for generations. Olmsted would refer to his park systems as "the lungs of the city": living, breathing spaces that bring vitality to the urban landscape. In 2022, we celebrate the 200th year of his birth as part of the nationwide Olmsted 200 commemoration. What an incredible honor to expand Louisville's Olmsted park system at such an auspicious time!

Capital Improvement Projects

Since our founding, we have focused on significant capital investments in the Olmsted Parks. Since 1989, we have overseen over $45 million of investments into our historic parks and parkways – projects such as the renovation of the historic pavilion at Shawnee Park and Sunnyhill Pavilion at Iroquois Park; the scenic North Overlook at Iroquois Park; Baringer Spring and Bonnycastle Hill restorations at Cherokee Park; the pergola at Central Park and the playground at Shelby Park; to the complete park restorations at Victory Park and Tyler Park. Your investments transform our Olmsted Parks and improve the quality of life for the surrounding neighborhoods.

Stewardship

Over fifteen years ago, the Team for Healthy Parks (THP) was created to address the degradation of natural areas in parks. Since that time, they have worked tirelessly to remove invasive species in the woodlands, a task that will never cease. But they do more than tackle honeysuckle, they also manage formal landscape beds, install wildflower prairies and meadows, handle daily high-level maintenance, and plant and care for hundreds of trees each year.

Community Engagement

We deepen connections between neighbors and the parks through hands-on volunteer projects, Friends of Olmsted Parks neighborhood groups, and playful educational programming.

Olmsted Parks Conservancy is working to create positive park activations to increase neighborhood parks usage and provide healthy recreational activities for park users. Our vision is to make all our parks the most vibrant and inclusive parks in the community.

We recognize not everyone can safely or easily navigate and enjoy our parks today. Whether park users have limited mobility or senses, Olmsted Parks should offer something for everyone.

Our goal is to increase accessibility to make the Olmsted Parks inclusive and welcoming to all. We want them to be more physically accessible and to feel safe and inviting.

In 2021, the staff worked across departments to ensure that we improved accessibility and made our parks feel welcoming.

Significant events and projects include:

- Algonquin Park – limestone boulders to prevent cars from driving through the park, refurbished benches, new historical marker, maintained pollinator garden
- Baxter Square Park, Boone Square Park – maintained formal landscaped areas
- Central Park – installed new formal landscaping
- Cherokee Park – installed new benches, maintained pollinator gardens, maintained formal landscaping, hosted Hayride on the Hill
- Chickasaw Park – cleared Ohio River viewshed
- Iroquois Park – new signage throughout the park, repaired cedar footbridge, maintained native landscaping at North Overlook, managed Summit Field meadow, maintained formal landscaping
- Seneca Park – new benches added, October Beer Garden event
- Shawnee Park – added three new ADA accessible chess tables near Lily Pond, refurbished benches
- Shelby Park – maintained formal landscaping, October Beer Garden event
- Tyler Park – new signage throughout the park, new formal landscaping, new benches, partnered with Tyler Park Neighborhood Association for the Jazz Series and the Winter Festival of Hope
- Victory Park – new accessible picnic tables installed, new floral planters installed, maintained formal landscaping
- Willow Park – maintained formal landscaping

Spotlight: Tribute Bench

Tribute benches and trees are such a wonderful expression and gift to the parks!

A tribute gift is a meaningful way to honor a person's life and accomplishments, memorialize a loved one, or commemorate a special occasion. You too, can add beauty to the Olmsted Parks by making a tribute gift with a simple donation, a newly planted tree, or a lovely wood bench.

Every commemorative bench and tree throughout the Olmsted Parks tells a story. Many honor memories of the past, while others herald new beginnings.

Tim Foree reached out in hopes to find a way to honor his son Zackery's memory. Seneca Park, especially along the Bowman Field flight path, holds a special place in Tim's heart. He and his sons were able to fly out from the airport. This location has become one of the crew's favorite spots in the park.

"The bench and plaque looks great and it will, at least for me, be sacred ground for as long as I'm around. Your work is very meaningful and important to so many families in this community. Thank you for your patience and flexibility while I worked my way through this very emotional process. Olmsted Parks Conservancy is on top of my volunteer list when I actually retire full time. All the best to you and the crew."

- Tim Foree

We are focused on investing our human and financial resources across the entire Olmsted Park system, especially in parks that have been overlooked for too long. Building connections and partnerships helps to inform park projects and programming, while guiding our advocacy work. Our ultimate goal is to increase the care and condition of all the Olmsted Parks and Parkways.

Our goal is to ensure we invested in parks and people affected by inequality. In 2021, the staff worked across departments to ensure that we were investing in parks and people where there are inequities.

Significant events and projects include:

- Algonquin Park – installed two new tennis courts, new regulation basketball court and a new half-court basketball court, partnered with USTA-KY and Councilwoman Keisha Dorsey to provide youth tennis clinics
- Boone Square Park, Seneca Park – partnered with Louisville Ballet to host the Ballet Bound Series
- Central Park, Elliott Park – hosted Pop-Up play dates and Coat Give-Aways
- Chickasaw Park – sponsored West Louisville Tennis Club CPR training class, Pet Vaccination Clinic, partnered with Louisville Ballet to host the Ballet Bound Series
- Iroquois Park – partnered with Louisville Ballet to host the Ballet Bound Series, hosted Coat Give-Aways
- Shelby Park – hosted Pop-Up Play dates, partnered with USTA-KY to provide youth tennis clinics, hosted Coat Give-Aways
- Victory Park – installed new grills, hosted Pop-Up Play dates
- Team for Healthy Parks increased their time spent in seven West End parks from 7.1% to 13.8%
- OPC staff created a Diversity Equity and Inclusion Committee to integrate equity goals into our operations
- OPC Board of Trustees adopted a Diversity Statement
- OPC reviewed and updated Employee Handbook, hiring and onboarding processes, and job descriptions

Spotlight:

The Cultural Landscape Foundation Landslide® 2021 Race and Space

The Cultural Landscape Foundation recognized Chickasaw Park for inclusion in the Landslide 2021: Race and Space compendium. The largest park specifically designed for the Black community of Louisville in the era of segregation, Chickasaw Park is also the only park in the country designed by the Olmsted Brothers firm during the period of park segregation for use by African-Americans. A part of Louisville's historic park system begun by Frederick Law Olmsted and completed by his son John Charles Olmsted, Chickasaw Park has a deep and rich history of fostering community and producing strong athletes, including Muhammad Ali, who trained at the park in his youth. The park now faces issues of deferred maintenance and a threat of erosion due to its proximity to the Ohio River.

Olmsted Parks Conservancy is investing $500,000 in the park to improve the historic lodge and surrounding landscaping.

“To get to Chickasaw Park, we had to go through segregated communities, and that meant we had to arrive and leave by a certain time. In Chickasaw, all the safe-guard messages such as ‘can’t, don’t, be careful and watch who you say things to’ disappeared. Once we got to Chickasaw, oh boy, we were in Black heaven.”

– Edward “Nardie” White,
Founder of River City Drum Corps

Sustainability

Our goal is to design spaces and structures that can be maintained, while also increasing environmental health, and building the Conservancy's resources.

We look at sustainability through three lenses: intentional design and ease of maintenance, environmental and ecological improvements to the land, and financial capacity. In 2021, we made progress toward a more sustainable park system and organization.

Significant events and projects include:

- Bingham Park – removed invasive species from woodlands, surveyed tree canopy
- Cherokee Park – installed new limestone steps to decrease trail erosion, planted trees
- Chickasaw Park – removed invasive species from woodlands, surveyed tree canopy, cleared Ohio River viewshed
- Bingham Park, Iroquois Park, Tyler Park, Seneca Park – removed invasive species from woodlands, surveyed tree canopy, planted trees
- Shelby Park – planted trees
- Shawnee Park – installed aquatic plants on floating vegetative islands, further enhancing the beauty and health of the Lily Pond
- Team for Healthy Parks enhanced their digital footprint by monitoring and collecting data to understand the impact of their daily work and developed field maps for efficient data collection

WE  OUR VOLUNTEERS

While we still were not able to host large public volunteer events, we did have over 40 small groups doing service work in our parks. Often these projects were led by our Park Stewards, dedicated volunteers who serve as park ambassadors. These Park Stewards adopt areas within our urban forest for restoration or help with landscaping and beautification efforts. We were impressed to see over 7,600 service hours logged in 2021, with over 1,000 participants. This was a dramatic uptick compared to 2020. We currently have over 100 active Park Stewards working in the Olmsted Parks.

Spotlight: Betty Jane Mills

For many years, Olmsted Parks Conservancy has received a generous annual gift from Betty Jane Mills, a retired associate professor with the University of Louisville Medical School.

She was a loyal supporter of the parks and had the foresight to designate the Conservancy as a beneficiary of her IRA. In the fall of 2021, after Betty Jane passed at the age of 100, the Conservancy received her legacy gift.

Betty Jane was a biologist and educator with an undergraduate degree from Tufts, and a Masters and PhD from the University of Louisville. Because of her passion for science, her gift is especially meaningful as we work toward sustainability and biodiversity for all parks. A tribute bench in honor of Betty Jane will be installed in Cherokee Park in 2022.

With a simple bequest in your will or a beneficiary designation on an insurance policy or retirement account, you too can make a lasting impact. Planned gifts of any size will help us protect the parks for decades to come.

If you have already taken steps to include Olmsted Parks Conservancy in your plans or would like more information, please contact Jesse Hendrix at 502.456.8125 or jesse.hendrix@olmstedparks.org.

“The parks are so thoughtfully designed. The parkways connect the parks together, and the city as well. This was a visionary project that changed the outcome of Louisville. People have a sense of pride in their neighborhood parks, but what we want to emphasize is the importance of investing in the whole Olmsted Parks system. It promotes connection and unity in our city.”

- Summer Auerbach Olmsted Parks Conservancy Board Chair

“Olmsted Parks Conservancy worked with the Shawnee Neighborhood Association to get ADA accessible chess tables near the Lily Pond in Shawnee Park. This was a community need to bring neighbors and visitors together. Hopefully, this will result in more collaboration with Shawnee Park and Chickasaw Park residents to foster future activities that the community will enjoy.”

Thank you for your continued support to make the Olmsted Parks
the most vibrant and inclusive parks in our community!

Financials

The Conservancy has been raising funds over the past three years as part of our Parks for All Campaign. These funds will be used over the next several years for major renovation projects in parks across our community. The most significant financial development of 2021 was the acquisition of land as part of an expansion of Cherokee Park. This $8 million investment represents the first time the Conservancy has acquired park land which will benefit generations of parks users. We also saw a 13% increase in all other donations in 2021 over 2020, while expenses stayed relatively steady.

Gwen Tilton and Mike Spoekler

"I am honored to receive this award. As someone who uses our Olmsted Parks on a near daily basis, I see firsthand how important this park system is to its many diverse users. For more than a century, the Olmsted Parks have provided Louisvillians in all corners of the city with an opportunity to escape into nature and away from the pressures of everyday life. We have seen the parks rise to this purpose in an incredibly important way during the pandemic. I have considered it to be a privilege to work with the Conservancy to preserve and improve these parks, and to advocate for the needs of their users."

- Gwen Tilton

Gwen Tilton Recipient of the 2021 Frederick Law Olmsted Award

The Frederick Law Olmsted Award was developed to honor and recognize an individual who has given much to our organization and to our parks.

Gwen Tilton, CPA retired from Dean Dorton, served on the Olmsted Parks Conservancy Board of Trustees for over 15 years, her last few as Treasurer and Finance Committee Chair.

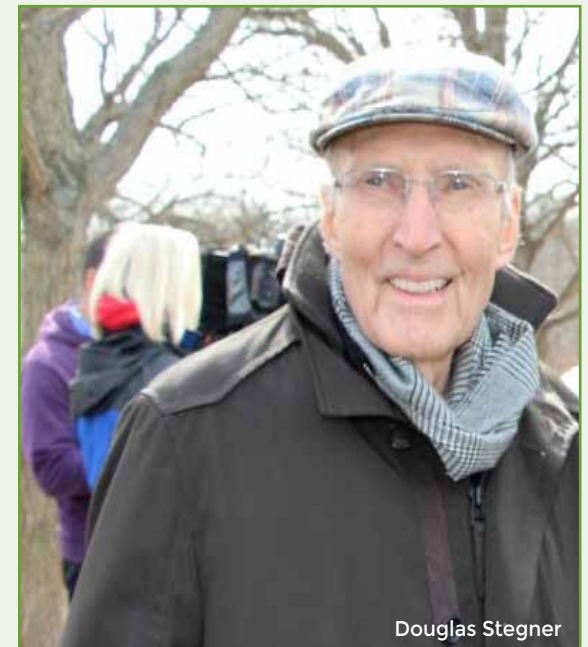

"Gwen has contributed time, talent, and treasure to our parks and left an indelible mark on our organization. She has clearly articulated our complex financial picture to our Board and has supported and guided the staff towards developing robust financial reporting," said Layla George, president and CEO of Olmsted Parks Conservancy.

Gwen was presented with the 2021 Frederick Law Olmsted Award and honored with a beech tree planted at Chauffer's Rest in Cherokee Park on Monday, April 26th, the 199th anniversary of Frederick Law Olmsted's birth.

In Memoriam Douglas Stegner

Douglas Stegner, a founding Olmsted Parks Conservancy Trustee, passed away on June 23, 2021. Doug served on the Board for seven years, but his connection and devotion to the organization spans our entire 32-year history. He was a brilliant strategic thinker and led us through the development of three strategic plans over the years.

Doug's most recent contribution to the Conservancy stands at Bonnycastle Hill in Cherokee Park. Stegner Pavilion is a gift to the entire community and a lasting legacy to the man who helped ensure our parks would be forever protected. They say that Board members should contribute "time, talent, and treasure." Doug gave an abundance of all three and we are better for it.

Douglas Stegner

2022 Events

Olmsted Parks Conservancy is working to create positive park activations to increase neighborhood parks usage and provide healthy recreational activities for park users. Our vision is to make all Olmsted Parks the most vibrant and inclusive parks in the community.
